8-Week A2 German Roadmap

Daily commitment: 1–2 hours | Starting point: A1 completed (Day 57 onward)

Goal: Reach A2 level in 8 weeks — handle everyday situations more fluidly, understand longer conversations, use past/future tense confidently, and build the grammar base needed for B1.

Daily structure to follow every day: - 20–30 min: New grammar/vocab lesson (Nicos Weg A2 modules) - 15–20 min: Duolingo (keep the habit going) - 15–20 min: Anki flashcard review (keep adding new words to your existing deck) - 15–20 min: Listening practice (Easy German, slightly longer clips now) - Sunday: Light review day, no new material, just revise the week

---

Week 9 — Perfekt Tense Deep Dive

Goal: Fully master past tense (you touched it briefly in A1 — now it becomes automatic)

- Day 57: Perfekt with haben — regular verbs (gemacht, gelernt, gespielt)
- Day 58: Perfekt with sein — verbs of movement/change (gegangen, gefahren, gewesen)
- Day 59: Irregular past participles (list of the 30 most common)
- Day 60: Trennbare Verben (separable verbs) — aufstehen → steht… auf
- Day 61: Talking about your weekend — “Am Wochenende habe ich…”
- Day 62: Practice writing a diary entry about last week
- Day 63: Review + Anki + record yourself telling a story about yesterday

Home Practice (Week 9): - Memorize the 30 most common irregular participles — quiz yourself by covering the answer column - Write 10 sentences using separable verbs correctly (watch the split!) - Write a full diary entry (100+ words) about last weekend in Perfekt tense - Record a 1-minute spoken story about “gestern” (yesterday) without reading

Week 10 — Präteritum & Time Expressions

Goal: Simple past (used for haben/sein/modals + written German), time vocabulary

- Day 64: Präteritum of sein and haben (war, hatte)
- Day 65: Präteritum of modal verbs (konnte, musste, wollte)
- Day 66: Time expressions — letzte Woche, vor zwei Tagen, nächstes Jahr
- Day 67: Future tense intro — werden + infinitive
- Day 68: Talking about future plans — “Ich werde…”
- Day 69: Ordinal numbers + dates (der Wievielte ist heute?)
- Day 70: Review + Anki + write 5 sentences about your future study plans

Home Practice (Week 10): - Fill-in exercise: rewrite 8 haben/sein/modal Perfekt sentences into Präteritum - Write your weekly schedule using time expressions (letzte Woche, nächste Woche, usw.) - Write 5 sentences about your future studies in Germany using werden + infinitive - Practice writing 10 dates in full German date format (der Wievielte ist heute?)

Week 11 — Cases Mastery

Goal: Solidify Akkusativ + Dativ together, prepositions that trigger each

- Day 71: Akkusativ prepositions (für, durch, gegen, ohne, um)
- Day 72: Dativ prepositions (mit, nach, bei, seit, von, zu, aus)
- Day 73: Wechselpräpositionen (two-way prepositions: in, an, auf, über…)
- Day 74: Practice: describing where things are (Wo?) vs. where you're going (Wohin?)
- Day 75: Adjective endings intro (basic pattern after der/die/das)
- Day 76: Practice sentences combining cases + adjectives
- Day 77: Review + Anki + describe your room/house using all learned prepositions

Home Practice (Week 11): - Build a preposition cheat sheet: Akkusativ / Dativ / Wechsel columns, 5 examples each - Fill-in exercise: 12 sentences choosing correct case ending after Wechselpräpositionen - Write 6 Wo? and 6 Wohin? sentences describing your house and neighborhood - Describe your room (6-8 sentences) using at least 5 different prepositions correctly

Week 12 — Comparisons & Everyday Situations

Goal: Comparative/superlative, practical real-life vocabulary

- Day 78: Comparative and superlative adjectives (schön → schöner → am schönsten)
- Day 79: Comparing things — "größer als", "genauso…wie"
- Day 80: At the doctor — health vocabulary, describing symptoms
- Day 81: At the bank/post office — practical errands vocabulary
- Day 82: Renting an apartment — housing vocabulary (this matters for Germany!)
- Day 83: Making appointments — phone conversation phrases
- Day 84: Review + Anki + roleplay: write a phone call script for a doctor's appointment

Home Practice (Week 12): - Compare 8 pairs of things (cities, foods, seasons) using comparative/superlative forms - Write a short dialogue describing symptoms to a doctor (6-8 lines) - Write a formal-style message inquiring about renting an apartment - Write and then perform out loud a full phone call making an appointment

Week 13 — Connectors & Complex Sentences

Goal: Move beyond simple sentences, start sounding more natural

- Day 85: Subordinating conjunctions (weil, dass, wenn, obwohl) + verb-to-end rule
- Day 86: Coordinating conjunctions review + practice combining sentences
- Day 87: Relative clauses intro (der/die/das as "who/which")
- Day 88: Indirect questions ("Ich weiß nicht, ob…")
- Day 89: Practice: rewrite 10 simple sentences as complex ones using connectors
- Day 90: Listening — Easy German clip, transcribe 5 sentences you hear

- Day 91: Review + Anki + write a paragraph (100 words) about your daily routine using connectors

Home Practice (Week 13): - Fill-in exercise: 10 sentences, insert weil/dass/wenn/obwohl and fix the verb position - Combine 8 sentence pairs into relative clauses (“Der Mann, der…”) - Write 5 indirect questions about things you’re unsure of - Watch one Easy German clip and transcribe 5 full sentences by ear, then check accuracy

Week 14 — Culture, Travel & Work Vocabulary

Goal: Vocabulary that matters for real life in Germany

- Day 92: Travel vocabulary — Bahnhof, Flughafen, Ticket buchen
- Day 93: Giving/understanding directions (full practice, not just intro)
- Day 94: Job/work vocabulary — Beruf, Bewerbung, Lebenslauf basics
- Day 95: University vocabulary — Studium, Vorlesung, Seminar, Prüfung (relevant for your goal!)
- Day 96: German culture basics — formal vs informal (Sie vs du), politeness norms
- Day 97: Practice: write a short self-introduction as if applying to a German university
- Day 98: Review + Anki + speaking practice: introduce yourself academically in German

Home Practice (Week 14): - Write a dialogue booking a train ticket at a Bahnhof counter - Draw a route between two places and describe the directions step by step - Write a short CV-style paragraph about your education and goals (formal Sie form) - Record yourself giving a 1-minute academic self-introduction, as if meeting a professor

Week 15 — Reading & Writing Fluency

Goal: Build comprehension speed, formal writing basics

- Day 99: Read a nachrichtenleicht.de article, summarize in German (3-4 sentences)
- Day 100: Formal letter/email structure (important for German bureaucracy/university applications)
- Day 101: Practice writing a formal email (e.g., requesting university information)
- Day 102: Read another simplified news article, note 10 new words
- Day 103: Informal vs formal writing style comparison
- Day 104: Practice: write both a formal and informal message on the same topic
- Day 105: Review + Anki + read one article aloud for pronunciation practice

Home Practice (Week 15): - Read 2 nachrichtenleicht.de articles this week, summarize each in 3-4 German sentences - Write a full formal email requesting information from a German university (proper structure: Betreff, Anrede, Text, Grußformel) - Add all new words from both articles to Anki (aim for 15-20 new cards) - Rewrite one formal message as an informal one to compare tone/structure

Week 16 — Consolidation & Mock A2 Test

Goal: Fill gaps, simulate A2 exam, prepare to move to B1

- Day 106: Full grammar review — Perfekt, Präteritum, Futur, all cases
- Day 107: Full vocabulary review — go through entire Anki deck,

mark weak cards
- Day 108: Take a free online A2 mock test (Goethe-Institut website)
- Day 109: Review mistakes, target weak grammar/vocab areas
- Day 110: Speaking practice — 3-minute recorded monologue about yourself, studies, and goals
- Day 111: Writing practice — full essay (150 words) on “Warum ich in Deutschland studieren möchte”
- Day 112: Final review + reflect: you’ve completed A2. Plan your B1 start date.

Home Practice (Week 16): - Build a master grammar cheat sheet (all tenses + all cases) — one page, your own summary - Take the free Goethe A2 mock test under timed conditions, score yourself honestly - Redo your weakest mock-test section after reviewing correct answers - Final essay (150 words): “Warum ich in Deutschland studieren möchte” — write it, then read it aloud and record it

---

Non-negotiables throughout all 8 weeks

1. Keep Anki daily — your deck is growing, don’t let old cards go stale.
2. Speak out loud daily — by A2 you should be forming full sentences without translating from Urdu first.
3. Start reading real (simplified) German — nachrichtenleicht.de weekly, minimum.
4. Use Tandem/HelloTalk at least twice a week now — real conversation is what separates A2 from B1.

Sources & Links

- Structured lessons (A1–B1): DW Nicos Weg — https://learngerman.dw.com/en/overview (Deutsche Welle’s free official course, A2 modules)
- Daily habit app: Duolingo — https://www.duolingo.com
- Flashcards (spaced repetition): Anki — https://apps.ankiweb.net (continue same deck from A1)
- Listening practice: Easy German (YouTube channel) — https://www.youtube.com/@EasyGerman
- Reading practice: Nachrichtenleicht — https://www.nachrichtenleicht.de (simplified German news, made for learners)
- Speaking/language exchange: Tandem — https://www.tandem.net | HelloTalk — https://www.hellotalk.com
- Mock A2 test: Goethe-Institut sample exams — https://www.goethe.de/en/spr/kup/prf.html